

P7 Transition Whodunnit ?

Hi everyone!
I am Mrs Harkin, Faculty Head of Mathematics and Numeracy. Can you use your maths skills to help solve a mystery we have encountered?

Hi! I am Miss Angus. I am exhausted after gathering together clues to help you with this. It wasn't me, honest! Make up your own mind. I need more coffee!

The maths department at Ardrossan Academy are a weird bunch. For starters, they LOVE maths! Secondly they love food - some too much (Mr Wilson!). They also have a rather exotic taste in pets and it is around that we see our mystery develop. One of our pets has been kidnapped! Miss Angus (while she was awake) spoke to all of the department and gave her own statement at the request of Mrs Anderson. It was late in the day and she interrupted our staff during their supper. The kidnapper already owns the pet which cost the least. They have taken the pet that cost the most. Who is the kidnapper and which pet have they taken?

Might as well interrupt my salad and start with me. My pet Ptery was one of 6 eggs I bought for me and my friends when I visited Jurassic Avenue. I paid £2430 for all 6 eggs and we split the cost evenly.

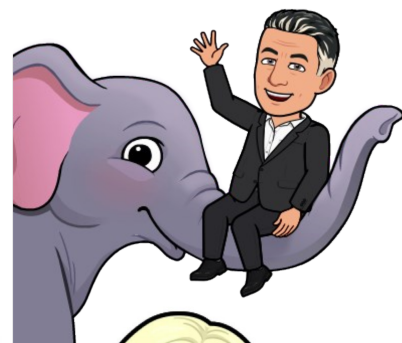

Quick before I tuck into this pasta and garlic bread! I have been out all day water-skiing with my pet shark Snappy - he's a big softie really! He was one of 5 rescued off the coast of Millport. The first one sold for £314 and they increased by £24 each up to Snappy who was most expensive.

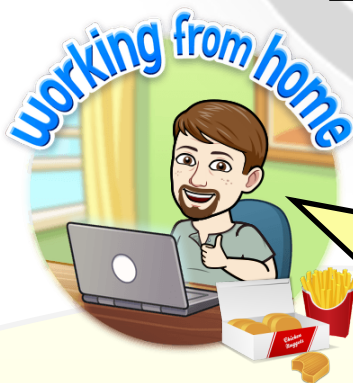

Mamma Mia!

Hi there, Mr Wilson here - you caught me in the middle of my meatballs. My pet Eddy had a big brother Olly who sold for £966.69. Eddy cost me two thirds of that amount.

Hello P7, I am Mrs Hamilton and I cannot wait to see you as our new SI. You caught me in the middle of a hot barbeque over here! My pet Chammy likes the heat as well - his previous owner was from Madagascar - like the film!! He only cost me his total travel fare. Bus to airport £43.16. EasyPet Flight £317.62 Train to Ardrossan £91.19

Mr Clifford here, hello everyone! Too busy to stop so Fast Food for me - don't tell my pet rooster Robbie but it's an AFC Cheery Meal. I bought Robbie in Japan for 68,070 Yen. The exchange rate was 453.8 Yen for each £1

Hi there P7, I am Mr Hand and my dapper pet Rocky and I are just back from the local heats of Strictly Ardrossan. I am just about to tuck into this Sizzle Burger. I picked up Rocky in a charity auction to rescue animals from a zoo that was closing. The opening bid was 1p and every bid after that doubled the price. My winning bid was the 16th bid.

Use the clues and the table below to solve the Ardrossan Academy Abduction... Good luck!

Miss Angus	Pterry

Mr Wilson	Eddy
